NEWS

OFFICE OF EQUITY, INCLUSION & TITLE IX HOST WOMEN IN LEADERSHIP SERIES FEATURING LAW CENTER ALUMNA

The Law Center's Office of Equity, Inclusion & Title IX continued the Women in Leadership series with a panel discussion featuring several alumnae.

Attorneys Susan Nelson and Terrel Kent, East Baton Rouge School Board Vice President Dawn Collins, and La State Representative Vanessa Caston LaFleur talked about their career trajectory and time at SULC. Each alum shared different aspects of their professional experience and gave beneficial advice to those seeking a career in politics.

OVERCOMING HEALTH STIGMAS WERE ON THE AGENDA DURING SULC'S TOTAL WELLNESS AND CANCER AWARENESS EVENT

Southern University Law Center hosted "Just Beat It," a cancer awareness and total wellness event. During the event, community members took part in wellness screenings and received information on local resources available addressing caregivers, nutrition, wellness, and more. In addition, local survivors and community health experts participated in a panel discussion on cancer survivorship and resources for patients and families battling this disease.

Participating vendors included representatives from, Southern University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, Baton Rouge General, Pennington Biomedical Research Center, Be the Match, Mary Bird Perkins Cancer Center, SULC's Vulnerable Community and People's Initiative, and Parker's Pharmacy.

SENIOR LEADERSHIP AND STAFF ATTEND CEO ROUNDTABLE ON CANCER ANNUAL MEETING

Chancellor Pierre and Office of External Affairs' staff attended the CEO Roundtable on Cancer's Annual Meeting. Participants were able to network and chat with partners and colleagues from other HBCU's and corporate organizations. In addition, Chancellor Pierre sat on panel addressing leadership's role on advancing health outcomes within our local communities.

The mission of the CEO Roundtable on Cancer is to make continual progress toward the elimination of cancer as a personal disease and public health problem through initiatives that reduce the risk of cancer, enable early diagnosis, facilitate access to treatment, and hasten the discovery of effective therapies.

In 2021, the Law Center came on board as a partner, along with several other higher education institutions and corporate partners.
